Prof., Dept. of Philosophy, Rabindra Bharati University

Topic : Kant's concept of Religion

Concept Note: An irresistible call for beyond has been beckoning man from time immemorial. The ancient man in his helplessness before the forces of Nature began to worship her with awe. Probably at that moment religion was born. Across the days, Nature worship was replaced by systematic religious cult and great World Religions like Christianity, Islam, Judaism, Zurastruism, Hinduism, Buddhism, Sikhism etc took their stand. But religion, where once man found his solace, his refuge, and which acted as a unitary force of society, in course of time has turned into a dividing weapon in the hands of some self-seeking and power-loving priests and political leaders. As a result, world has witnessed fanaticism and intolerance among the followers of different religious sects. This is not only true in ancient or medieval time; it still remains a reality in this world of 21st century where we are witnessing religious intolerance and communalism to such extent that it crosses all limits of humanity. Through this WEBINAR we want to address the vital question that is constantly tormenting us: How could religion which promised to be an inspiring call for exploring a greater truth, has turned into an instrument for division and disharmony.
